Re-Imagining Returns

The history and future of Re-Imagining

The 1993 Re-Imagining Conference was a watershed event in the history of Christian feminism, bringing together leading feminist theologians from around the globe and developing new feminist liturgies. The backlash against it made Christian feminism part of the national conversation and led to the creation of the Re-Imagining Community. Drawing from interviews with key people involved in Re-Imagining, Dr. Jordon will share their memories of these events and their reflections on its relevance for today. She will also share events being planned for 2018 by the Re-Imagining Community to celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the 1993 Conference in Minneapolis that started it all.

A lecture presentation lasting about an hour.

Dr. Sherry Jordon was awarded her Ph.D. in Theology from Yale in 1995 and is currently Associate Professor of Theology at the University of St. Thomas. She specializes in historical theology, particularly the Reformation period, and Women's Studies. Jordon served on the Coordinating Council of the Re-Imagining Community from 1998–2003, spoke at the 2003 Re-Imagining Gathering, and wrote an essay on feminist theology for Bless Sophia: Worship, Liturgy, and Ritual of the Re-Imagining Community. As part of her current research on the history and theology of Re-Imagining, she completed sixty-five oral interviews with members of the Re-Imagining Community, leading feminist and womanist theologians who presented at the conferences, people who were on the national staff of the women's units in the Presbyterian (USA) and United Methodist churches, and authors who have written books related to Christian feminism and/or Re-Imagining.
